OAM is a world-class provider of security, risk management, specialist skills training, close protection, investigative and crisis management solutions to individual and corporate clients

What's the Threat?

Is your organisation or personnel faced with an environment where there may be:

- * Political, social and economic instability
- * Limited or underdeveloped service infrastructure
- * A threat from disaffected minorities
- * Language/cultural barriers
- * A chance of violent civil disturbance

In these extreme circumstances OAM can assist in reducing or transferring the risks and more importantly, allow your organisation to continue to operate in these testing environments with an improved corporate reputation and a much reduced risk profile.

In less threatening environments OAM can offer an even more comprehensive suite of services.

OAM Services

Government agencies, NGO's, humanitarian groups, corporate entities and high profile individuals are faced with constantly changing risks and threats to themselves, their assets and reputation.

OAM was established to deal with such risks and threats with the delivery of simple, cost-effective and flexible solutions by world-class problem-solvers. Most importantly, OAM recognises that each client's situation is unique and demands a tailored response, not an overpriced and often inappropriate templated solution.

• Security & Risk Management

OAM has world-class experience in the design, delivery and review of Security & Risk Management solutions. These can be tailored to suit individuals or high-profile companies which often have assets located in widespread high risk environments.

• Training & Skills Transfer

OAM personnel have provided safety, security, leadership and specialist skills training to both individuals and large groups often in hazardous working environments.

Defence and Security Services, Law Enforcement Agencies, Resource/ Extractive mining industries, Shipping and Aviation are just some of the industries where OAM personnel have successfully delivered client/ situation specific training.

• Close Protection

OAM can provide skilled individuals or teams to match a client's threat profile. Alternatively, OAM can train and supervise a client's own personnel to world's best standards.

• Investigations

OAM can provide a tailored solution to deal with an existing business problem or can assist with specialist due diligence support that is often crucial to a strategic business decision.

• Crisis Management & Response

OAM can offer a full suite of preventative and response solutions to either a potential crisis scenario or in the worst case a rapidly deteriorating situation that demands simple, timely and cost-effective action.

OAM's partners and associates have had many years of professional experience in the design and delivery of management plans and specialist training including direct action in response to political, environmental and criminally motivated threats to individuals, corporate entities and statutory bodies.

Most importantly, OAM's service gives our client the necessary assistance and advice to bring about order to what could otherwise be an extremely stressful and potentially disastrous situation.

Alliances

OAM is a key element of a strategic network of service alliances and associates who provide the consultancy group with a global capability to identify the threat, reduce the risk and protect the asset. OAM's wider capabilities include:

- IT & Communications Security
