

International Ship & Port Security

PORT/OFFSHORE FACILITY SECURITY OFFICER (PFSO/OFSO)

In November 2001 the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) agreed to the development of new measures relating to the security of ships and of port facilities. The result was the International Ship and Port Facility Security (ISPS) Code. This code was enacted as an amendment to the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea, 1974 (SOLAS 74), as of 1 July 2004.

Drafted in 2003 as the Maritime Transport Security Act 2003 (MTSA), Australian legislation was amended to include Offshore Oil and Gas Facilities and renamed the Maritime Transport and Offshore Facility Security Act 2003 (MTOFS Act 2003). The amended Act and regulations govern Australia's Maritime Security Environment.

Within the Federal Government, Department of Infrastructure; the Office of Transport Security has been established as the Federal body responsible for the regulation of the Act.

THE COURSE

Osprey International in partnership with South Metropolitan TAFE conduct Security Officers courses that comply with the above International and Australian Legislation.

The purpose of this course is to train participants as Port & Offshore Facility Security Officers (PFSO/OFSO) which will allow them to assess the security of a port; and to raise, implement and review a Port Facility Security Plan.

Australian Legislation divides the position of PFSO into three separate positions, namely:

- PSO/HSO – Port Security Officer/Head Security Officer is required for all defined ports & offshore facilities
- PFSO/OFSO – Port Facility Security Officer/Offshore Facility Security Officer is required for each functioning facility within the port
- PSPSO/OSPPO – Port Service Provider Security Officer/Offshore Service Provider Security Officer under Australian legislation are lighter or barge operators, line handling operators, pilot boat operators and tug operators

* Osprey can provide flyaway/onsite courses, and alternative dates are available to meet individual company requirements ****
